BRIEF HISTORY

Champagny-en-Vanoise has the authentic charm of a Savoyard mountain village, nestled on a largely sunny southern slope at 1250 m between the Plagne Paradiski skiable area and Vanoise National Park.

This is an ancient village and traces of the first human inhabitants date to 2500 B.C. have been unearthed in the Bozel valley. For a very long time, the people of Champagny lived off of agricultural and cattle breeding. The numerous pastures were the only resources from the high valleys.

Today, Champagny-en-Vanoise has diversified into year-round activities. Summer tourism began to grow with the development of hot springs resorts starting in 1820 and naturally, the creation of ski resorts in the 1950s was a major contributor to the village's revival.

Architecture in Champagny still reflects traditional values. Filled with hamlets featuring traditional homes in wood and stone, the village became a comfortably-sized winter sports resort in 1971. You'll love the charm of the village with its baroque church and small lanes leading to a chapel and oratories. In Champagny-en-Vanoise, a warm welcome is not an empty promise.

"VILLAGE FEEL" RESORTS

- 1 - Timeless, authentic charm
- 2 - A relaxed way of life to experience with family
- 3 - Mountains of tomorrow (genuine summer-winter dual season)
- 4 - Heritage & family safe haven

The thirst for wide spaces boosts the summer season in the mountains each year. This enthusiasm highlights the appeal of country houses for city dwellers.

VILLAGE RESORTS AND "VILLAGE-FEEL" RESORTS ARE ON THE RISE!

Buyer and holiday goers are increasingly becoming fans of resorts running in winter as well as summer like Champagny-en-Vanoise. The pause to urban life experienced in chalet-style residences along with the change of scenery offered by authentic architecture featuring wood and stone set in large preserved spaces explain why double seasons in the mountains, starting with summer, are all the rage and a force that will drive tourist development for tomorrow and beyond.

FEELINGS FIRST

The old 'property-investment' model in tourist apartment complexes is finished! Emotion plays a major role when people buy properties in our apartment complexes. Wishing to stay in control of exactly when they occupy the property, homeowners, influenced by the new Airbnb trend, are attracted by the opportunity of renting out their apartments for several weeks a year to pay for the running and upkeep costs. In this way, owners can ensure their mountain home is financially viable, while avoiding all the management hassle associated with the 'old model'.

A SAFE HAVEN IN BOTH SENSES OF THE TERM

The impact of current economic uncertainties (COVID-19, international economic tensions, etc.) has made stock-exchange prices very volatile. Faced with the yo-yoing of the stock market, real estate in beautiful locations is a safe bet. It is a safe haven for heritage but also family, if we consider how many of those escaped the city prior to lockdown. Having a green family outing in the mountains is a top priority for our fellow citizens.

SPACIOUS LUXURY

Our mountain properties have moved beyond the outmoded space-saving model of the past, adopting a new model in which spacious rooms create the feel of a real home. At Terrésens, we meet our clients' expectations by aiming to find the perfect balance between price, comfort and space, especially in the living areas. The decorative focus is on providing fully-equipped American kitchens opening onto living areas that act as the heart of family life. Terrésens, therefore, aims to keep the living area above 25 sq. m. in all apartments that have two or more bedrooms.

NO NEED TO PERCH AT 2000 METRES ALTITUDE!

A real grassroots shift has been established among new buyers who are no longer focussing the investments solely on occupation during the winter and high-altitude skiing. They see increasing "proprietary and enjoyment" interest to opt for village resorts in welcoming sceneries at any time of the year. Connected by high capacity lifts like the Champagny-en-Vanoise cable car that will whisk you to the Paradiski resort at 2000 m in eight minutes, these village resorts combine the joys of skiing with those of summer walks in the mountains and leisurely moments on terraces and in boutiques. Joys often forbidden in the summer, if you stay perched at 2000 metres in a lunar environment!

MOUNTAIN BIKES ELECTRIFY THE SLOPES!

Terrésens residences are increasingly in demand during the summer — a sign that the mountains are not just for skiing. Fewer holidaymakers wish to be stuck on a packed beach. With a cart hooked to their electric mountain bike, they would much rather picnic with family members at the top of an Alpine pass, bathe in a biotope lake, go rafting or canoeing, and other activities offered at very affordable prices in the summer. To satisfy their thirst for large spaces and wishes to relax with family, many are ready to buy their country house in the mountains.

VILLAGE RESORTS: a real double winter/summer season.

- 1 - Pure air year-round
- 2 - Many activities for everyone
- 3 - Calm and rest
- 4 - Perfect spot to relax with family!

BETTER PRICES IN SUMMER

Housing costs are better during the summer season, attracting more visitors. The mountains have been on the rise these last few summer seasons.

Plus, you'll enjoy much more pleasant temperatures and avoid suffocating heat waves.

PURE MOUNTAIN AIR

When you head to the mountains, you'll escape big cities, air pollution and traffic jams. You'll get away from massive crowds. And you'll find lakes and rivers where you can relax and re-energise while admiring breathtaking scenery without any disruptions.

NATURE EXPLORATION

This is the perfect destination to deepen your culture and explore old villages, traditional architecture, museums, religious edifices, and fortifications. Take in remarkable historic sites and learn the history of mountain villages.

VANOISE NATIONAL PARK was created in 1963 to slow the disappearance of ibexes. It is the oldest national park in France. It is a majestic area between Maurienne and Tarentaise that safeguards carefully protected plants and wildlife. It has an incredible variety of landscapes in its 53,000 hectares and its 500 kilometres of trails.

Vanoise National Park has two areas: the central and peripheral. The central area, called the heart of the Park, has a special designation naming it a protected area. It's subject to specific regulations. The peripheral area covers 28 communes.

The Park shares a border with the Italian Gran Paradiso National Park. They have been twinned since 1972 and together cover an area of 1,250 km², the largest protected space in western Europe.
